Pontoon considers TIF development

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — A large-scale development, featuring a 200,000-square-foot shopping center, banks, health care facilities and residential property, is being proposed for a 68-acre tract of land on the west side of Illinois 111 south of Interstate 270.

Visions of a multiple-use development for Chouteau Trace 1 were described by developer Stan Lucas at Tuesday night's public hearing.

The hearing was required as a preliminary step should the village trustees decide to establish a Tax Increment Financing district (TIF).

A TIF district allows any future increases in real estate taxes, plus sales taxes, generated through new development in the affected area to be returned directly to the village.

A 45-day period is necessary after the public hearing before the board can proceed with the next step in the TIF process.

Setting up a TIF district enables taxes to be frozen at the current level with future increases being collected by the village, authorities said.

Lucas owns the undeveloped property in question, located within the village boundaries. It is south of Engineer Road and north of the Timberlake Manor subdivision.

Several businesses have shown interest in future development of the property, Lucas said Tuesday night. Preliminary plans call for about 35 acres of commercial development at the closest point to Illinois 111, with apartments or duplexes constructed at the rear of the property, he said.

Norman Owca, director of finance for the Granite City School District, attended the public hearing and was assured that taxes from the proposed area allocated to the district will remain the same, without any loss in revenue.

After learning the area proposed for TIF consideration produces only $793 in property taxes, or about $500 to the school district, Owca said Wednesday the amount was not significant.

Any future development of the area would automatically go on the tax rolls and eventually benefit the school district.

Lucas envisions the tract's development over a period of one, two or three years. "Nothing is for sure," he said. "Just establishing the (TIF) district would be helpful."

Interested investors are all from out-of-town, he said. Inquiries have come from South Dakota, Kentucky and other states, Lucas said.

Lucas has developed nursing home projects in Caseyville, East St. Louis, plus apartment complexes and the Town and Country subdivision here, he said. Previously, he built single-family homes.

Tax Increment Financing has been on the books since 1977 and many communities are now using TIF districts to develop blighted and underdeveloped areas, including portions of Granite City, St. Louis, Belleville and Collinsville. The Pontoon Beach proposal meets TIF criteria, an official said.

Several residents at the hearing questioned whether new housing in the proposed area would cause crowded conditions in local schools during a time when the school system is reducing its teaching staff.

Any reduction in teachers is due to declining enrollment, Owca said, pointing out the district closed specific schools because the buildings were only 60 percent occupied, rather than a preferred occupancy rate of 90 percent.

Trustee Don Rea said more new housing could benefit the district's teaching staff.

Boy's dream coming true thanks to SEMC

Six-year-old Richard Scharf will see the animated characters of Walt Disney World come alive when he visits the Magic Kingdom in Florida on June 17. He is the son of Richard and Margaret Scharf of Granite City.

The St. Louis Dream Factory and St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Radiology Department are working together to fulfill Richard's dream.

Employees of the Radiology Department raised enough money through their own efforts to sponsor the Scharf family. The Dream Factory has made all of the necessary arrangements while the family is in Florida.

Richard and his parents will also visit Epcot Center near Orlando on June 18 and Sea World on June 19.

Employees of the Radiology Department presented the family with money to meet expenses of the trip on Wednesday.

The Dream Factory is a national non-profit organization that fulfills dreams of seriously ill children.

Information about the St. Louis Chapter can be obtained by writing the Dream Factory, P.O. Box 7, Granite City, Ill. 62040, or by calling 797-0166 in Illinois or (314) 849-1582 in Missouri.

Business opportunities plentiful in Metro East

ST. LOUIS — Three hundred members of the bi-state region's business and investment community attended an "opportunities breakfast" at the Missouri Athletic Club June 11, with Metro East in the spotlight.

The breakfast was sponsored by the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois, the Regional Commerce and Growth Association, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE), community economic development clusters of Southwestern Illinois, the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and the Southwestern Illinois Corridor of Opportunity Council.

Representatives of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce also attended the breakfast.

Featured speakers included Ralph Korte, chairman of the board of Ralph Korte Inc., a firm which has a number of major projects in progress in Southwestern Illinois.

A review of the more than $800 million in private-sector investments over the past three years in Southwestern Illinois was presented by Robert Koepke, professor of geography and associate director of Regional Research and Development Services at SIUE.

Koepke said most St. Louisans are not aware that Metro East makes up about 25 percent of the bi-state metropolitan area and generates more than 20 percent of its income.

The "opportunities" breakfast is one of a series of events designed to inform investors throughout the bi-state region of the potential for profit in Southwestern Illinois.

Mary Kane, executive director of the Leadership Council, said the current housing boom in the region is probably due to the fact that many excellent Metro East subdivisions and neighborhoods are located within 20 to 30 minutes of downtown St. Louis.

Partney denied restraining order

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The driver license suspension of School Board member David Partney will be lifted if a requested injunction is approved.

Gary Mack, a spokesman for Secretary of State Jim Edgar, said Partney's license will not appear on a police computer as scheduled June 2, which was 45 days after an arrest for DUI (driving under the influence).

Stack said he did not rule on whether Ferguson was legally able to stay the license suspension. The hearing held Friday was to determine whether Partney would suffer irreparable damage because of this suspension. Stack ruled Partney did not prove such damage.

Stack said Partney would be severely inconvenienced by the suspension, but inconvenience was not grounds to grant emergency relief.

The injunction request by Scroggins will be ruled on later, Stack said.

suspended license.

The secretary of state's office and Madison County Chief Associate Judge Edward Ferguson have been in disagreement for the last two weeks after Ferguson slayed an automatic suspension of Partney's license. Edgar's office said Ferguson's June 1 court order was invalid under Illinois law, and the state suspended Partney's license as scheduled June 2, which was 45 days after an arrest for DUI (driving under the influence).

Stack said he did not rule on whether Ferguson was legally able to stay the license suspension. The hearing held Friday was to determine whether Partney would suffer irreparable damage because of this suspension. Stack ruled Partney did not prove such damage.

Stack said Partney would be severely inconvenienced by the suspension, but inconvenience was not grounds to grant emergency relief.

The injunction request by Scroggins will be ruled on later, Stack said.

"This ruling has no effect on this (Ferguson's) order," Stack said.

Partney testified that his inability to drive would hurt his business and would make it difficult for his 12-year-old son to attend a number of activities. He said he had already taken out a $7,500 loan to fight the suspension and the DUI charge.

Ferguson's order was the result of a hearing on whether Granite City policeman Tim Lyerla had probable cause to stop Partney on April 17 and arrest him for DUI. Partney claimed Lyerla and patrolman Walter Milton Jr., who was off duty and almost fought with Partney at Charlie's Restaurant the night of Partney's arrest, set Partney up in the arrest.

Lyerla charged Partney with DUI; Partney said he was not intoxicated and refused to take a breathalyzer test because he thought he was being set up.

Refusal to take a breath test carries an automatic six-month suspension of the driver's license. (See PARTNEY, Page 6A)

Concert rain date to be Wednesday

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra's musical salute to BAC's 40th anniversary was rained out Thursday, but the concert has been rescheduled for this Wednesday, June 17.

The hour-long concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, 9500 Illinois 15, Belleville. All tickets purchased for the concert will be honored this Wednesday.

The orchestra played Thursday for a short time before stopping because of the rain.

Additional tickets are still available and can be purchased for $2 and $4 for the 6,000 chair seats in the amphitheater. Parking is free.

The concert, sponsored in part by the Suburban Journals, will feature a combination of classical and "pops" music.

Talent rises on wings of an eagle

By Maxine Duniphan
Correspondent

Carl Krohne Sr., 82, a man of many talents, spends his time wood carving, painting and showing his works of art for others to enjoy.

Recently his work was displayed at the Chouteau Township Civic Center, during the senior citizens art show. There he displayed examples of his talents, both as a wood carver and as a painter.

Of his many art pieces, Krohne's favorite is a bald eagle which is carved to scale, right down to the enlarged toe joint and its talons. The eagle, which he calls "Old Baldy," is always displayed along with the same image in oil on canvas.

He explains to interested viewers how the double image — painting and carving — came into being. He spent many hours at the zoo, in Brownsville, Texas, sitting by the eagles' cage, where he sketched in detail, he said.

"Than I painted what I had sketched," he said.

Later, with a home-made knife that he made for his carving, with a chunk of black walnut wood, with his sketch and with his painting, his free-standing eagle began to appear.

Although the eagle is his favorite, he has done many art works, most of which he gives to family members as a gift.

His works are varied — some are miniature and some are life-size — but all have character, such as a weary Mexican rider astride his tired burro.

Another is a mama raccoon and her baby. The mother seems to have her eye on the little one and the little one has an impish look.

Krohne and his wife, the former Alice DeBow, are residents of 2923 Pershing Ave., Granite City.

They are original Granite

Citizens who moved to California in 1956. There, Krohne worked for the Hughes Tool Co., in Culver City, where he was an experimental mechanic and aircraft wind tunnel model builder for helicopters.

He also was employed at the Hughes Terminal Island facility, where he worked on the famous "Spruce Goose" wooden airplane. One of his experimental models is on display at the Smithsonian Institute.

At the time of his retirement from Hughes in 1970, the Krohnes returned to Granite City.

In 1972, Krohne became interested in wood carving. As he worked, a dormant talent began to grow, and in these few years has flourished.

Mrs. Krohne is also talented. Among her talents are spinning and weaving.

They are looking forward to celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary June 25.

Don't permit farm crisis to develop

To the editor:

On May 28, I rose in the United States Senate to speak in support of legislation proposed and cosponsored by my colleagues from farming states aimed at accelerating corn deficiency payments.

Unfortunately, the Senate defeated the proposal and missed an excellent opportunity to provide greatly needed help for corn farmers and for all who depend on the farm economy for their livelihoods.

Our agricultural communities face a financial crisis of devastating proportions. Falling prices, combined with the devaluation of farmland and newly imposed barriers to export markets, have made it virtually impossible for our farmers to serve their debt.

The amendment I cosponsored would have made deficiency payments, provided for feed grain in the 1985 Farm Bill, available immediately rather than on Oct. 1 this year.

An acceleration of this sort is not without precedent. Similar legislation was passed prior to adjournment of the 99th Congress for wheat producers. We did this for wheat because the situation demanded our attention. The same circumstances which confronted wheat producers then now exist for producers of feed grains.

Regardless of the differences in the growing season for these crops, the need to ensure that equity between commodity programs is maintained.

Initially, the 1985 Farm Bill provided for the feed grain deficiency payments to be made on Oct. 1, 1987. By making the payment available now, thousands of cash-strapped farmers could have received the money when they needed it most.

Over a two-year period, there would have been no impact on overall government payments and no additional cost to the taxpayer.

In addition to this cash flow problem, many Illinois farmers have, this year, experienced unseasonably dry weather that has brought about near-drought conditions.

Some counties of Illinois have applied to the Department of Agriculture to release diverted acres for haying and grazing.

Unfortunately, their applications have been turned down, even though parts of Wisconsin and Michigan have been approved for this release of reserved acres.

Sen. Simon and I have written Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lying requesting that he instruct the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service to review and re-evaluate its decision regarding the release of diverted acres for haying and grazing.

I am quite concerned about the criteria being utilized for the approval of these requests. The decisions made seem to be based on criteria appropriate to weather conditions as they would exist in August, rather than May and June.

It appears the ASCS is waiting for this situation to reach crisis proportions. I have no intention of sitting by and letting this agency create such a crisis.

Although some parts of Illinois have gotten some rain, we have reached the point at which normal rainfall is insufficient to replenish the moisture already lost from the soil.

Further because of the lack of moisture and the deterioration of the soil, any second growth of hay will not occur this season.

I hope the ASCS and Secretary Lying will have the foresight to resolve this problem before it reaches crisis proportions.

The current bankruptcy rate for farmers is appalling, and if we fail to respond with measures to provide relief, that rate can only continue to rise.

U.S. SEN. ALAN DIXON

American firms can compete abroad

To the editor:

We often hear that America is becoming a nation of service industries — that our industrial base is rusting out, that we're finished as an industrial power, that we can't cut it as a nation that makes things.

Well, there is some good news. The nation's machine tool builders are ready to go head to head with Japan, West Germany and other nations in competing for sales in the world market.

In 1981, U.S. firms sold $2.2 billion worth of metalworking machinery to other nations. By 1985, export sales were down to $1.2 billion, a decline of 45 percent. Imported machine tools were flooding into the U.S. market, battering the industry on a second front.

Lost sales mean lost jobs, lost income and a higher trade deficit. Now, the machine tool industry is fighting back. How? With a new tool to win sales overseas, an export trading company.

Our competitors push hard for exports. Foreign companies benefit from government subsidies, protected home markets that allow them to undercut world prices, and tax and regulatory policies to boost export sales.

In 1982, Congress passed legislation that authorized to give the U.S. a way to fight back. The law was the Export Trading Company Act, which permits U.S. companies to join forces in seeking sales overseas.

Under the law, U.S. firms can submit joint bids on projects, as well as team up to offer packages of goods and services. A small or medium-sized business could not handle on its own.

Since enactment of the law, 76 American export trading companies have been formed.

The most recent addition to the ranks of export trading companies is the National Machine Tool Builders Association, a group of 268 manufacturers of metalworking equipment.

The new export trading company can apply to one or more groups of exporters within the association, or to the entire membership.

The head of the machine tool builders said, "This is the most important international development to be made available to our industry in the last 20 years."

In addition to sponsoring the law for export trading companies, my office worked closely with the machine tool builders to push their application through the review process at the Justice Department and the Commerce Department.

I pressed for the Export Trading Company Act because I believe the United States can play the game of world trade and win.

I believe we can compete. I believe we can be a nation that manufactures automobiles, machine tools, computers, airplanes and other products, and does so successfully.

The future of America is not crawling into a hole and hiding from the world. That is protectionism and it is a dead end.

The future is: going head to head with the competition and winning. The machine tool builders are ready to give us a lesson in how it's done.

U.S. SEN. JACK DANFORTH

Manic depression examined

By Prof. F. Henry Firsching

Manic depression is a relatively common form of mental illness. A 10-year study involving manic depression has been made on a selective group of people, the Older Order Amish people of eastern Pennsylvania.

These people make an ideal group because of the way they live, their code of ethics, etc. They experience almost no criminal behavior, violence, marital separation, divorce, alcoholism, or differences in socio-economic status. All these factors might be expected to influence the manic depressive illness.

Despite the fact that the Amish do not have these problems, they experience essentially the same rate of manic depressive illness as the general population. The incidence of manic illness was followed carefully in

Think About It

By Prof. F. Henry Firsching

The Amish population and showed a definite pattern. A genetic relationship was involved.

Two marker genes, near the tip of the shorter end of human chromosome 11, bring about a predisposition to develop the manic depressive illness. About 70 percent of those who carry these marker genes develop the manic illness. A genetic basis for manic depressive illness has been established.

Many researchers feel that there is more than one cause of manic depressive illness, and that they have discovered but one of the causes. The gene that may be responsible for the disease is now being studied. Hopefully, the exact function of this manic depressive gene will be determined.

The production of an enzyme is suspected. There may not be enough enzyme, or too much, or the enzyme could be altered from the normal structure. If it turns out to be an enzyme then this information could be used to develop a treatment.

Progress is being made in understanding a prominent form of mental illness that has plagued mankind since civilization began. Further research on the biochemical nature of the disease, perhaps leading to successful treatment.

AIDS research, some testing urged

"Anyone who reflects at all on serious problems facing our nation and the world has to stand in awe of the problem of AIDS. Its cost to the nation will be measured in billions of dollars, plus the human tragedy and heartache."

Present projections are that by 1990 one out of every 10 American males will be AIDS carriers.

Costs for hospital care for AIDS victims run more than $1,000 a day on the average and only one-third of the patients are covered by commercial insurance.

The ultimate cost will be in the billions of dollars, beyond any question, unless research breakthroughs are found that are not now anticipated.

What can be done? 1. Push research hard. 2. Encourage education. That should include education on how to prevent the spread of AIDS and education that explains to people that they need not fear social, nonsexual contact with AIDS victims.

3. Provide adequate assistance immediately for voluntary testing centers.

Hardly anyone who knows he or she has AIDS spreads it. But those who do not know they have

By Paul Simon, U.S. Senator

We do not need massive testing of the entire population, or huge portions of it.

The wait to get tested at voluntary centers in Minneapolis is three months, in Chicago two months, in New York City about one month.

Those waiting periods are unbelievably costly to the nation. For anyone suspecting he or she has AIDS, voluntary and confidential testing should be quickly available.

I have been working with others on the health policy committees in Congress to find the best way to assure readily available voluntary, confidential testing.

4. In some cases, tests should be required.

There is growing evidence of some public understanding of the nature of the problem and its dimensions.

But it is a problem so serious that considerable time and talent must be devoted to it.

5. For those who have AIDS where life expectancy is short, a willingness to take experimental drugs should be honored.

The government should protect people from charlatans — from those who prey on the desperation of people, for financial gain.

But where an untested drug or treatment shows some promise in treating AIDS, experimentation with human volunteers appears to be a reasonable course.

We also need to provide appropriate, compassionate surroundings for dying patients.

Other suggestions on dealing with AIDS have been made that should be examined. Some of you who read this may have some ideas that policymakers have not heard.

Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York has suggested that knowingly spreading AIDS be considered a crime. I have concerns about the impact on the confidentiality of innocent victims, but in general, I support the idea.

There is growing evidence of some public understanding of the nature of the problem and its dimensions.

But it is a problem so serious that considerable time and talent must be devoted to it.

Long-distance call from Elvis missed

I waited Saturday night.

My wife, Tricia, called me crazy and went to bed leaving me alone with a lukewarm pot of Irish cream coffee and stale, unstopped popcorn. But she couldn't dim my resolve, no matter how sensibly she argued that I wouldn't get the phone call.

Sitting between jumps on the sofa, with a blanket draped over my shoulders like an Arab's cloak, I bathed in the dull light of television re-runs and enjoyed the excitement of a couch potato.

My daughter's Big Bird clock, discarded on the living room floor, ticked off the hours, but the Mickey Mouse phone — purchased at my wife's insistence — stood on the coffee table, seeming to stare — the little rat's grin mocked me.

My confidence waned. In the weakened, tired state brought on by too much coffee and television, I began to think Tricia was right. Perhaps my lonely night was pointless.

In a panic, for the hundredth time I reached for the June 9 issue of the Weekly-World News.

Media Mandarin

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

Executive Editor

turning to the article that brought me past the brink of midnight on my deperate quest, and there it was, as it was every time, bold announcements on Page 2: "Dead loved ones can call us up!"

Being a sensible journalist myself, I'd tried earlier in the week to call the editor of the Weekly World News, at the grocery store tabloid's office in Lantana, Fla., and though I was told the editor doesn't answer questions except in writing, I felt confident that the paper's sincerely written article would lead me to the exclusive interview I'd sought with my boyhood, musical idol, Elvis.

Again I devoured the article, envigorating my strength to stay awake by reading information attributed to Dr. Rudolf Steppman, identified only as a paranormal researcher: "I have hundreds of interviews with people who have spoken with departed friends and loved ones. And if a new experiment of mine is successful, I will soon be able to reverse the process and place calls to the dead myself!"

The article went on, stating the dead usually call late, hence my reason for staying up. "It's successful. I will soon be able to reverse the process and place calls to the dead myself!"

Pumped full of sunshine, I shouted at Mickey Mouse, "Ring, vermin, ring!"

From within the bedroom my wife mumbled something or other, but I had my confidence back. When a story is printed in a grocery store tabloid, I know it must be true.

I contemplated the questions I'd ask Elvis.

"Tell me, Elvis, does being dead hurt?"

"Do you wish you were alive?"

"Do you sing lead in the heavenly chorus?"

Mortgage burning at Moose Lodge

Moose Lodge 272 held a mortgage burning ceremony at the lodge on 19th and Adams streets.

The recent event was attended by state, district and area dignitaries and members. The occasion retired a mortgage obtained in 1967.

Administrator Virgil Singler introduced the guest speaker, Bob Large, state director of Mooseheart.

Large said residents of Mooseheart are proud of the lodge on this occasion. His wife, Ann Large, was present.

Others introduced included District 10 President Curtis Condon, District 10 Vice President Walter Baker and his wife, Lolita, Walter Spiers and his wife, Marge, from the Cahokia Lodge, Fred May and his wife, Norma, and Gus Dittmer and his wife, Verna, all of the Edwardsville Lodge, Sam Burgess Jr. of the Caseyville Lodge, Don Stout and wife, Merlene, from Cahokia, Merton Castellini of the Granite City lodge, district bowling chairman, and Lodge Governor Richard Hasty and daughter, Sherri.

Hasty then presented the other lodge officers and their wives. Singler introduced past governors. Included were Bob Cox and his wife, Lois; Cox was the first governor of the lodge and is a 32-year member.

The past governors group included Bud Worthen and his wife, Leitha, Larry Lane, Fred Miller and wife, Edna, Walter Anders and wife, Karen, Jim Past governors who are now deceased were named and accorded special honors: George Lipscomb, Malford Morris, Ollie Thompson, Jack Wilson and Al Belt. Belt was also a past lodge secretary. "I think Mr. Belt as lodge secretary and Mr. Lipscomb, who signed the mortgage papers in 1967, would really have enjoyed this night," Singler said.

Singler spoke of past fund-raising projects. Among them were turkey shoots, a lemonade stand at Wilson Park during July 4th festivals, and the bingo project. The organization also has sponsored dances. Many of the programs also were supported by the Women of the Moose group.

Those who planned and organized the mortgage celebration were Bob Large, Sara Gusewelle, Clara Johnson, Jo Jones, Jim Menzies, Bob Thebeau and Charles Westbrook.

Officially participating in the mortgage burning were Bill Masters, Terry Singler and Vern Johnson.

A dinner was served to 140 people, catered by Brenda's Restaurant of Madison.

Teen night at park pool

The Granite City Park District will sponsor a "teen night" at the Wilson Park swimming pool on Monday, June 15.

The party, from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., will feature a band geared to teen-agers, 13- to 19-year-olds. Admission is $1 per person.

"Teen-agers are invited to come to the pool, swim, listen to the music and have a good time," said Bruce Holt, pool manager.

The pool will be closed to non-teen-agers on teen night.

Rules of road class June 17

Secretary of State Jim Edgar, in cooperation with the Granite City Council of Senior Citizens, is offering a Rules of the Road review course June 17 for all citizens in the Granite City area.

The purpose of the course is to help applicants pass the Illinois Driver's License renewal examination. It updates drivers on the current rules of the road, explains the vision and the driving ability examinations, and prepares applicants for the general written and road sign examination.

The review course will be held at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave., on Wednesday, June 17, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

The course is free to everyone, any age, who wishes to attend. For more information, Clyde Myers can be called at 876-3981.

War Memorial fund

Summer reading at library

"Quest — Journey into Reading" is the theme of the 1987 summer reading program at the Granite City Public Library.

The program, which begins June 15 and ends Aug. 7, consists of reading, crafts, movies and storytimes. All children are encouraged to attend.

Children who read and report on either 15 juvenile books or 25 easy-read books, depending on reading level, by Aug. 3 will fulfill the requirements of the reading program. They will receive a certificate and be invited to a party in August.

A gold bar will be given for each book that is read; the gold bars may be redeemed at the summer party for prizes.

Children may register for the reading program at the main library, 2001 Delmar Ave., the branch library, 2020 Johnson Road, or on the bookmobile.

A new aspect of the summer reading program is called "Someone Reads to Me." Any child who does not know how to read may have books read to him or her and receive a sticker each week to put by his or her name.

Craft sessions will be held at the main library on Wednesdays and at the branch library on Thursdays. Children must be at least six years old to attend craft sessions. All supplies will be furnished. Craft sessions begin at 2 p.m.

Films will be shown on Tuesdays at 2 p.m. in the children's room of the main library, and again at 6:30 p.m. at the branch library. All films are free and open to the public. A movie schedule is available at either library.

Several special programs sponsored by the Madison County Arts Council will be given at the Granite City Public Library this summer, in addition to the regularly scheduled programs.

Storytimes will be held on Wednesday mornings at the main library children's room and on Thursday mornings at the branch library. Storytimes begin at 11 o'clock. Children must be at least three years old to attend.

The Reading Rainbow program again is being televised by Channel 9, KETC, starting June 1. The scheduled viewing times are Monday through Friday, at 10:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. and Sunday at 9:30 a.m. Many of the books featured in this program can be found at the public library.

A schedule of events in the library's summer reading program is available at the main and branch libraries. Additional information may be obtained by calling 452-4238.

Archaeologists slated to confer at Cahokia Mounds State Site

Archaeologists who have excavated at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site will be participating in the 1987 Cahokia Conference scheduled for Sunday, June 21, at the Cahokia Mounds Theater from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

This year's Cahokia Conference organizer, Dr. George Holley, an archaeologist from SIUE, has divided the conference into two segments.

From 1:30 to 3:45 p.m., six 20-minute presentations will be given. At 4 p.m., plan maps of excavated communities can be viewed and the archaeologists responsible for the fieldwork will be available for questions and discussion.

The archaeologists and site staff invite the public to participate in the free program. The program was developed to help educate the public about the importance and methods of the science of archaeology.

One out of ten women will develop breast cancer.

Perhaps the two most frightening words to a woman are breast cancer. The number one killer of females, breast cancer is a disease caused by an uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in the breast tissue. But with detection, effective treatment can be started immediately, therefore improving the patient's prognosis. The survival rate among women who find cancer before it is noticeable is 97 percent.

To answer the need for early detection of breast disease, St. Elizabeth Medical Center has established the Breast Diagnostic Program, which provides mammographies at almost one-fourth the cost of such procedures being done elsewhere. A convenient diagnostic procedure, mammograms provide patients with high quality, high sensitivity images with minimal radiation exposure.

Following the American Cancer Society's guidelines, this simple, painless exam is currently the best method of detecting breast disease. The ACS recommends all women age 35 to 40 have an initial, routine mammogram; diagnostic exams periodically between age 40 and 50; and yearly exams after age 50.

How many will detect it in time?

Scheduling for the general public will begin Monday, June 1, and will end on Friday, July 31. Normally, such a procedure would cost $95 to $100. Subsidized by the Gussie Glik Cancer Fund, this procedure is now available for a limited time for only $25, which includes the interpretation fee. A physician's referral is required.

Hearing

Partney denied restraining order

license suspension after a 45-day appeal period.

Ferguson ruled Lyerla had probable cause to stop Partney. Ferguson said the arrest, nevertheless had the "appearance of impropriety" and set a June 16 jury trial on the DUI charge.

Partney appealed Ferguson's probable-cause ruling, which caused Ferguson to stay Partney's driving suspension until the appeal is heard.

Mack said the secretary of state's office still takes the position that Ferguson's order is not legal.

"It's our position that probable cause is not appealable," Mack said. He said that, though judges may interpret the state's DUI law in various ways, the law does not allow judges to order the state to lift suspensions based on the appeal of a DUI charge.

But Mack said he was unsure if the law barred a judge from staying a suspension based on an appeal of a probable-cause ruling.

It is possible Partney may be granted an injunction to remove the license suspension, Stack said.

"Just because I've denied that (restraining order), it doesn't mean I've denied a preliminary injunction," Stack said. "I have to assume that this (Ferguson's order) is correct."

At Friday's hearing, the secretary of state's office was represented by Dennis Orsey, assistant attorney general based at the Granite City regional office. The city was represented by City Attorney Mark Goldenberg and Assistant City Attorney Ed Fitzhenry.

school district. If a development brings in more children, the schools would get more state revenue, he added.

Evelyn Vernarsky, who has lived in the village 18½ years, said his children were forced to attend three different grade schools because of buildings being closed.

"I am not against TIF if it is going to bring good businesses in here and not hurt the schools," said resident Vicky McCauley.

"What makes that property there (Chouteau Trace D better than the log houses (Timberlake subdivision) that fell through," a woman asked.

"Different development and different people involved," Lucas replied.

Should a TIF district be created, the trustees are considering issuing revenue bonds to finance construction of streets, sewers and utilities in the proposed area, according to a village official.

If a bond proposal is approved by the board, an estimated $384,000 in revenue bonds could be issued and retired over a period of time.

Man hits pizza driver, damages delivery truck

A Domino's Pizza delivery driver was attacked by a motorist after the delivery pickup truck almost hit a car that had its headlights off a few minutes after midnight June 11 in the 3400 block of Maryville Road.

The employee, Joseph Jakul, of the 2500 block of State Street, said the driver stopped his car and then pushed him back into his delivery truck as he was trying to exit. Jakul was struck on the nose and then was pushed into the truck a second time. The restaurant manager said the truck sustained two large dents.

$300 bicycle missing

A 20-inch motocross-style bicycle, valued at $300, was taken from outside the home of Darold Tolley, 3218 Westchester Drive, between 8 p.m. and 10:25 p.m. June 10. A chain lock had been cut.

Bizarre photos follow theft of 5 lawn statues

The theft of five lawn elf statues, valued at $75, from the yard of Sandra Shaw, 1557 Rodger Ave., was followed by the receipt through the mail of several photographs.

The photos showed the figures blindfolded, with a gun pointing at their heads.

Protection order cited

Rodney Scott Walker, 22, of 1914 Beckwith Ave., Madison, was arrested on a warrant for violating an order of protection and driving with a suspended license June 10 at Cleveland Boulevard and 18th Street. He was released on $202 cash bail.

Cannabis charge filed

Sergio G. Huerta, 22, with no known address, was arrested for possession of cannabis at 8 p.m. June 10 at 21st Street and Sherman Avenue.

Chase ends in arrest

A chase through a house and over two fences at 2013 Illinois Ave. ended with the arrest of John Richard Krug, 20, of 2406 Illinois Ave., this week for resisting a police officer and on a warrant for failure to appear on a charge of driving while under the influence. Krug was released on $102 cash bail.

Water floods jail cell

A man who was being held on criminal trespass charges faces three additional charges after he allegedly used a blanket to plug a toilet in the Granite City jail and flooded the cell and main cell block at 10:10 p.m. June 6. William R. Carney, 34, of 2524 Circle Drive, was booked for criminal damage, battery and resisting an officer and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment following the incident. His bail was raised from $202 to $2,500.

Burglar gets $600 cash

A burglar took $600 to $700 in cash, a 35mm camera and old coins from the home of George Johannmeier, 2441 Edison Ave., June 7.

Vandals make pickup

Vandals removed a Panthera's Pizza delivery sign from the top of a pickup truck parked on the west side of the parking lot June 7.

Tenant faces charges

Alan Boyd Konemann, 24, of 2114 Delmar Ave., was charged with criminal damage to property, disorderly conduct and driving while his license was revoked after he allegedly beat on a glass door at his apartment building until the glass broke and then attempted to flee the scene at 4:57 p.m. June 7. His bail was set at $250.

Arrested on 3 charges

Randall J. Isaak, 33, of 2204

Hodges Ave., was booked for battery, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct at 7 p.m. June 7 after he allegedly pushed and hit a police officer several times on the head, neck and shoulders in the 2500 block of Madison Avenue. The officer was trying to search a garage for a missing bicycle. Bail was set at $250.

Cyclist hurt at crossing

Motorcyclist Gerald D. Kree-

ger, 27, of Collinsville, was apparently driving south on 20th Street near the Missouri Avenue intersection when the cycle left the road and ended up on the railroad tracks at 2:23 a.m. June 7. He was hurt and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by ambulance.

What kind of father lets his kid work for nickels & dimes?

A father who realizes that a newspaper carrier route can reward a youngster with much more than spending money.

It can teach the sweet satisfaction of self-reliance and paying your own way. It can teach a lot about people—about getting along with fellow workers, about bosses, and about what you owe customers and what they owe you.

It can teach pride, responsibility and hard work in doing what has to be done and doing it right.

If you'd like this for your youngster, suggest that he—or she—call our circulation department and ask about a newspaper route.

Oh, and about the money. In this job the nickels and dimes very quickly add up to real dollars.

Winner, losers, hopefuls among summer releases

By Harry Hamm
Journal correspondent

It wasn't that many years ago when the summer movie season officially started the first week in June. Ten years ago last May 21, something special happened. A young film maker from California decided to release a summer science fiction for kids a little early in order to get a jump on the competition.

That film was "Star Wars" and May 21 has unofficially become known as George Lucas day in Hollywood.

So far this year, one summer release has become a hot hit, while the other is cooling. The big hit and a challenger for top box office film of the summer, and maybe the year is Eddie Murphy's "Beverly Hills Cop II."

Despite lukewarm reviews, the public has given this comedy sequel an enthusiastic welcome.

Not so enthusiastic has been the reception for "Ishtar," starring Dustin Hoffman and Warren Beatty. The movie cost $40 million to produce and seems to be the biggest waste of film production funds since United Artists sank a similar amount in a dry hole directed by Michael Cimino called "Heaven's Gate."

Touchstone films has also released "Ernest Goes To Camp." The film stars Jim Varney, the character seen locally in the LaCelle Gas commercials. Ernest may be a hit in the world of television commercials, but in a feature film, Ernest has real trouble selling his most important product, himself.

Four films from among the approximately 12 titles making a debut this month seem destined for success, maybe.

Brain De Palma's "The Untouchables" (which opened June 5) brings back the feel and flavor of The Godfather type with a sterling cast that includes Sean Connery, Kevin Costner and Robert De Niro as Al Capone. De Niro was just as the devil in "Angel Heart." He is rapidly becoming Hollywood's most talented portrayer of evil beings, earthly or otherwise.

Speaking of devilish acting jobs, Jack Nicholson plays very ordinary, horny little devil in "The Witches of Eastwick" (June 12). It's a great part for Nicholson. He gets to seduce Cher, Susan Sarandon and Michelle Pfeiffer. He also wrecks a church.

"Harry and the Hendersons" opened June 5 in the Metro East. This comedy about a family from Seattle who run into Big Foot on a camping trip and try to make him a household pet may sound foolish, but it plays extremely well with kids and adults. The film has an outside chance to be one of this summer's surprise hits.

Granite City Press-Record/Journal Sunday

Rev. William O'Brien
Guest speaker at 3rd Baptist

Third Baptist Church, 2601 Grand Ave., is inviting the public to worship with the congregation at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, June 14. The guest speaker will be Dr. William R. O'Brien, executive vice president of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, Richmond, Va.

Dr. O'Brien has been a missionary to Indonesia and active as a minister of music, youth worker and pastor.

A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, he received his master and doctoral degrees from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

The guest choir director for Sunday will be former Granite City Tim Shrader. He is the minister of music and youth for Westside Baptist Church, Titusville, Fla., and the son of Jim and Ruby Shrader, 242 State St.

Special music will be presented by Tim, his wife, Debbie, and his brother, Jim Jr., Jim's wife, Debbie, and their sister, Dynette.

Mike Livengood

Glenview Chapel

Warning! Indoor air may be hazardous to your health

Americans have spent $200 billion trying to improve the quality of the air they breathe outdoors. They have spent billions more tightening up their homes and offices to conserve energy. Only now, safe behind their insulated walls and triple-sealed windows, are they realizing that the air they are breathing indoors is often more dangerous than the air outside.

According to an article by Mike Lipske in National Wildlife magazine, the quality of air indoors may well become the country's biggest environmental issue in years to come. National Wildlife is a bi-monthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

Our current indoor air pollution problems are, in part, an unpleasant side effect of energy conservation. After the 1973 Arab oil embargo, when fuel prices skyrocketed, office building managers began seeking ways to create tighter, more energy-efficient environments.

In offices, windows that opened were replaced by mechanical ventilation systems. "Many buildings in the winter time do not admit any outside air," says Michael Larsen, an industrial hygienist. "They just keep recirculating what's there." Meanwhile, homeowners, spurred on by utility companies, spread caulk and weatherstripping around windows and doors.

Tightening up the envelope, as engineers call it, to reduce fuel bills — in many cases substantially. But it also banished the natural ventilation that, in years past, diluted stale and contaminated indoor air. In many cases, the results have been devastating.

Workers in Washington, D.C., for example, discovered that slime in the air conditioning drain pans of a government-managed building was producing airborne fungus at levels roughly equivalent to those found in a chicken coop. Nearby, employees working in offices in a converted portion of a parking garage began suffering from headaches and other health problems. Indoor carbon monoxide levels proved to be almost three times higher than federal limits allowed for outside air.

The office bane, now banned, was being used by the Environmental Protection Agency.

In fact, the number of people claiming to be victims of "building sickness" has tripled since the early 1970s, and health care costs from indoor pollution are now thought to run as high as $100 billion a year.

Tightness alone does not cause indoor air pollution. The problem, says experts, is the chemical contents of many modern buildings. Formaldehyde, for example, is a colorless gas found in thousands of products ranging from carpeting and drapes to particle-board. It causes nose, eye, and upper respiratory tract irritation, as well as nausea. Pesticides, cleaning solvents, and fumes from many other items can make people ill. Glue, varnish, paint, and liquid spot remover frequently contain toluene, a toxic chemical that can cause fatigue, muscle weakness, and liver and kidney damage. Paint strippers and aerosol sprays may contain methylene chloride, a suspected carcinogen.

Because buildings are sealed tighter, tobacco smoke has become a greater problem than ever. An EPA scientist calculated that from 500 to 5,000 deaths occur annually in this country from passive smoking.

Tobacco smoke inhaled by non-smokers. The National Council for Clean Indoor Air goes even farther, saying that involuntary exposure to tobacco smoke may lead to as many as 46,000 deaths a year.

Finally, authorities have only recently realized that radon, a naturally occurring odorless gas, is threatening millions of Americans, contaminating one in eight homes. Radon seeps into homes from underground soil and stays in houses that are tightly sealed.

What can people do about indoor air pollution? According to experts, you might determine whether an illness is related to your workplace by asking the following questions:

• Do the symptoms "go away" when you leave your office? If so, there's a chance you are being exposed to some irritant.

• Are the symptoms worse as the week progresses, better on the weekend, and then worse again Monday? Such a cycle would indicate a workplace problem.

• Do any co-workers suffer? If so, your office will emit formaldehyde or plasticizers for a few months.

• Has your office recently been painted, remodeled, cleaned extensively, or exterminated? Any one of these can leave high levels of irritants.

• Do you work with smokers? For homeowners, one of the first places to look for help is the city, county, or state health department, which can either supply information about common problems in the region or places to go for help. In some cases, officials will even evaluate homes at no cost.

Family physicians also can help. By administering tests to culture nasal, throat, or lung secretions, they can sometimes tell what agent, if any, is causing the symptoms.

In the final analysis, many experts find it ironic that, while we have been busy cleaning the air outdoors, the air inside has gotten worse.

Congratulated

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT: Deborah S. Burmeister, Granite City, is congratulated by Don Davis, chairman of the department of art and design at SIUE, and Earl Lazerson, president of the university, for being a 1987 Presidential Scholar. Selected on the basis of previous academic work and special talents and abilities, the award winner will receive monetary assistance, special academic status and individualized educational opportunities. A recent graduate of Granite City High School, Burmeister is the recipient of an Illini Federal Savings and Loan Association Presidential Scholarship.

Pack 28 presents awards

Cub Scouts of Pack 28, sponsored by the Parkway School PTA, held a barge in Worthington Park as their May pack meeting. The club earned their softball bleep by participating in a barge against their parents.

Due to inclement weather, the meeting moved to the school cafeteria where everyone enjoyed hot dogs and chips.

Awards were presented by Pat Foote, cubmaster, to Chris Markovich and Nicholas Huniak, Wolf badge. Markovich received three silver arrows. Bear badges went to Jason Lombardi, Patrick Gibson, Jimmy Stephens and Vic Buchler. Gibson also received one gold and three silver arrows.

Receiving soccer belt loops were Chris Walton and Patrick Gibson.

Dens 1 and 3 were accepted into the Webelos dens as each boy received his Webelos scarf, colors and book from Foote and his parents. Webelos were Jimmy Stephens, Brandon, and Brad Graves. Dennis McCauley.

Chad Ashoff, Darren Isbrecht, Walton, Gibson, Ryan Cooley, Scott Bonds, and Mike Kaminski. The new leaders will be Jim Cooley and Mike Kaminski for Den 2 Webelos and Mike Graves for Den 1 Webelos.

Bear books were presented to Ben Harris, Jeff and Greg Hoenig, Huniak, Jeff Logsdon, Markovich, Brandon Martinez, John Meszaro, Nicholas Thomas and Gregg Trotts.

Floyd Lumpkins and Mark Thomas received graduation certificates from Foote for having completed the Tiger Cub program. The parents presented the boys with their Tiger Cub graduation patches.

It was announced that the pack will attend a Cardinal Baseball game on June 25 and July 9; a fishing derby on July 11 at Horseshoe Lake; and the Science Museum in August. July 12 is the Webelos Camp that is to be held at Camp Sunnen near Potosi, Mo. The meeting closed with the Cub Scout prayer by the audience.

No more late-night garbage pickups

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Nights in Granite City will be a little quieter because of a new trash law. The City Council last week adopted an ordinance that bans garbage pickups after 8 p.m. The new law affects commercial and industrial businesses that are next to residential areas. Businesses are allowed to have garbage or refuse picked up between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. A fine of $25 to $250 can be ordered against a firm or garbage service each time the ordinance is violated.

Seventh Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen proposed the new ordinance because, he said, noise has become a problem with late-night garbage pickups at businesses on Nameoki Road.

Cardinals' BP pitcher has camp

Imagine learning baseball from someone who pitches against Jack Clark or Ozzie Smith.

Bob Hughes, batting practice pitcher for the Cardinals, will conduct a summer baseball camp June 22-26 at Belleville Area College, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

To register, call the college athletic office at 235-2700 or toll free 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 271.

Boys in grades four through nine may participate in the camp, which runs from 9-30 to noon each day. Cost is $40 per camper, which includes insurance and awards.

An assistant baseball coach for the Cardinals, Hughes has been the Cardinals' batting practice pitcher before all home games for the past eight years. He played several seasons as an infielder in the Cardinal and Dodger systems.

Hall: From small college to the Boston Patriots

By Al Barnes
Correspondent

Ron Hall is living proof that a young man doesn't have to play on a prestigious college football team to be signed by the pro gridirers.

After playing four years for the Granite City Warriors, Hall was recruited and signed by Missouri Valley College at Marshall, Mo. His coach was Volney Ashford.

After a highly successful four years there, Hall was drafted and signed by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1959. He soon was traded to the Boston Patriots, where he was a standout safety for nine years.

Hall retired in 1968 and landed in Kansas City. He then returned to college (Central Missouri State) to earn his masters in education. While there, he met his wife Jane. They have three children.

Hall now lives in Liberty, Mo. and teaches golf at Liberty High School.

Ron Hall

"I'm thrilled to be remembered so highly by the folks in my hometown," he said of his induction into the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame.

Seniors together again for Post 113

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY The 7-2 loss to Belleville East Monday was the end of an era for the Granite City High School Class of 1987. A proud group of advancing fell one game short of advancing to the state tournament.

There are several players returning to next year's team, but it was a senior-dominated team. But before the seniors go their separate ways, there will be one last hurrah for them.

Most of the frontline players on the Warriors will make up the Tri-City American Legion Post 113 team which opens its season this afternoon in Bethalto. A preview of the team will look very similar to the preview done on the high school team back in March, although there will be a few changes.

Gus Lignoul, a long-time coach at the high school, takes over the Triplets from Dave Coakley. He inherits a group that has played together for many years, although it remains to be seen how they regroup after failing so disappointingly short during the high school campaign.

"It could take a while for us to get going," said Lignoul. "We'll just have to wait and see how they react. I know they are a bunch of competitors, so getting beat might spur them on during the summer."

The Triplets' starting lineup might mirror that of the Warriors in the infield, behind the plate and on the mound. The outfield, however, could have a different look. Two of the high school team's starting outfielders, Tim Hogan and Todd Adams, itis, aren't planning to play legion ball this year.

Home games in ALL CAPS

"I think Todd really wants to start concentrating on soccer now, and Tim just indicated he didn't want to play," Lignoul said.

Adams has a full scholarship to attend Eastern Illinois, where he might try to walk on the Panther basketball squad.

Other than that, the rest of the 29-10 Southwestern Conference champions remain intact. Rich Wilson is the one remaining starting outfielder, while Randy Chapman and Chris Bartling will be given the chance to get started as starters.

"We're going to have to find ourselves a center fielder," Lignoul said.

Lignoul is planning on having freshman Joe Wallace behind the plate. He would be only the third in Granite City to play senior legion immediately after his freshman year. The others were Daren DePue, Tommy Hennrich and Keith Champion.

"Joe didn't hit much during high school ball because we were using the designated hitter for him a lot," said Lignoul.

"But he will have to hit during the summer. There's a new rule in legion ball this year, and the DH will be used as it is in the American League. The DH can be used only to hit for the pitcher. So we'll have a decision to make when guys like (Darin) Hennrich and (Scott) LeVault pitch. We might not even use the DH in those games."

The infield will be LeVault and John Moad at first base, Jamie Hogan at second, Jeff Grote at shortstop and Todd Hinterser at third. Chris Ryan is another infielder and Charlie Collins should be in the lineup. Collins' high school year was cut short by a pair of broken hands. He was an offensive terror on the Optimists junior legion team the past two years.

"We're going to have to find somewhere to play Tim Patterson as well," Lignoul said. "He will DH some, and he can also play infield and outfield."

Backing up Wallace will be Dave Bamber, who quit the Warriors in midseason.

"David should be able to help Joe quite a bit," Lignoul said. "He's a little ahead in the mental part of the game simply because of his experience. I could even see him as a player-coach type."

The pitching will be anchored by LeVault and Hennrichson, who combined for 17 wins during the high school year. Other available arms include Mike Krausz, Mark Begando, Moad, Wallace, Mike Georgeff and Bartling.

Lignoul sees Edwardsville, Highland and Collinsville all having strong teams in District 22's North Division. He is looking forward to the challenge.

Harry Ellis is the liaison between Post 113 and the baseball team, Lignoul said. "And Tommy Hennrich and I approached before last season about managing the team if Dave decided not to come back. Tommy knew Harry pretty well, so while Dave decided not to return, it was up to Ellis. We were happy to take over."

As with most legion managers, Lignoul will probably have to work around the summer jobs of his players.

"It's a senior-dominated team, and most of them are going on to college," he said. "I'm sure most of them are looking for some extra money. They'll have jobs, which is fine. We have

Journals sponsor tennis tourney

The Suburban Journals will help sponsor this year's Triple A High School Tennis Tournament. The tournament will be held Aug. 17-22 at the Triple A Club (Mallinckrodt Courts), the Dwight Davis Tennis Center and the Huddins Courts in St. Louis. It is open to all St. Louis area high school students eligible to play in the United States Tennis Association 16's and 19's.

It will be singles only with first-round consolation. There will be two flights: A championship flight for boys and girls who have played on their high school team or have earned a USTA District Junior ranking and a novice flight for players who have never played in high school and have not earned a ranking.

Entry fee for the championship flight is $10 and USTA membership is required. The entry fee for the novice flight is $5, and entrants will also receive an initial one-year USTA membership worth $8 plus free entry to the Novice Clinic, Aug. 15.

That clinic will be at the Triple A Club and will be conducted from 2 to 4 p.m. to help novice entrants prepare for the tournament. It will be run by a local teaching professional and instructors from the Sunset Tennis Club.

All novice entrants receive free court practice Aug. 16 at the Triple A Mallinckrodt Courts from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

All finalists and consolation

Anglers asked to return catfish tags

Sport and commercial fishermen who catch channel catfish from the Mississippi River or its tributaries bearing a yellow "spaghetti" tag are urged to return the tag to the Department of Conservation.

Persons returning the tag, along with fish length, weight and catch location will receive a $5 reward. Persons catching a channel catfish with the tag should send the information to the Department of Conservation, 140 Lake Vista Drive, Carlyle, Ill. 62231.

WANTED: 21 HOMES IN NEED OF WINDOWS GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS

Home owners who are anticipating changing the windows this year will now be given the opportunity of having the new MYI SUPER SHIELD HEAT MIRROR THERMAL REPLACEMENT WINDOWS installed in their homes at a very low cost. The most extraordinary invention since the discovery of glass - a result of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Research - increased the R-Value of double glazed windows by 160% - as energy efficient as a window with five solid panes of glass with less weight and cost. It will be of special interest to home owners who are fed up with old drafty and poorly insulated windows that are causing utility bills to go higher and higher.

MYI SUPER SHIELD WINDOWS are custom made for each window opening. They're installed without disturbing your present walls, inside or out. They're tight, easy to operate, tilt in for inside cleaning, never need painting or putty. MYI SUPER SHIELD, with the FULLY INSULATED FRAME AND ONE INCH INSULATING GLASS, is guaranteed to save energy and money year round. They carry a 35 YEAR NON-NEGOTIATED WARRANTY. MYI SUPER SHIELD will be the last window your home will ever need.

Home owners who act now will receive an introductory Manufacturer's Discount. Please call Bill Frazer 1-800-225-8646, Extension 531 as soon as possible and ask for KAREN CORBY. An appointment will be made to inspect your windows without any obligation. 100% Bank financing is available.

winners will receive trophies, and all entrants will receive T-shirts designed for the tournament.

Entry forms are available from high school coaches and athletic departments, at the tournament locations and at most tennis facilities in the St. Louis area. A USTA universal entry form can also be used.

Mail entries to Triple A Youth Foundation, 5163 Clayton Road, Forest Park, St. Louis, Mo. 63110. (Phone: 314-652-2433)

The entry deadline is Aug. 13 at 5 p.m. The tournament is sanctioned by the USTA and results will count for USTA rankings.

enough kids where we can work around their schedules.

"I've worked with almost all of these kids in the underclass programs at the high school. I know them pretty well and I think we can have a good summer."

The first home game (Varsity Field) is Tuesday night against East St. Louis at 6 p.m. Highland is in town Wednesday night.

BASBALL NOTES: Tim Hogan, LeVaut and Wilson were all selected to play in a Missouri/ Illinois All-Star game at SIUE today. Details on that game will appear in Wednesday's Journal. Daren DePew's name was not on the list of draftees by the major league teams that came out Friday. A rumor had been circulating around that he had been drafted by the Cincinnati Reds, but apparently they had called him to ask if he would participate in the tryout camp they were holding Friday in Troy. Stay tuned for further information as DePew seeks a career in pro baseball.

The Belleville East Lancers were knocked out in the state semifinals for the third year in a row when they lost to Springfield Griffin 7-2 Friday morning. Kurt Hill, who beat Granite City for the sectional title Monday, was touched for all seven runs and 11 hits. East had the bases loaded when the game ended. On Thursday, the Lancers defeated Galesburg in a quarterfinal game 14-5 as Jason Hess got the win. East finished at 30-11.
